Chinese military calls US biggest threat to world peace

BEIJING, SEPT 14 /--/ China's Defense Ministry on Sunday blasted a critical U.S. report on the country's military ambitions, saying it is the U.S. instead that poses the biggest threat to the international order and world peace. The statement follows the September 2 release of the annual Defense Department report to Congress on Chinese military developments and goals that it said would have serious implications for U.S. national interests and the security of the international rules-based order. Defense Ministry spokesman Col. Wu Qian called the report a wanton distortion of China's aims and the relationship between the People's Liberation Army and China's 1.4 billion people. Many years of evidence shows that it is the U.S. that is the foment of regional unrest, the violator of the international order and the destroyer of world peace, he said. U.S. actions in Iraq, Syria, Libya and other countries over the past two decades have resulted in the deaths of more than 800,000 people and displacement of millions, Qian said. Rather than reflecting on itself, the U.S. issued a so-called report that made false comments about China's normal defense and military construction, he said in the statement. We call on the U.S. to view China's national defense and military construction objectively and rationally, cease making false statements and related reports, and take concrete actions to safeguard the healthy development of bilateral military relations." Running to more than 150 pages, the Defense Department report examined the PLA's technical capabilities, doctrines and the ultimate aims of China's military buildup.

It said it includes becoming a practical instrument of China's statecraft with an active role in advancing Beijing's foreign policy and aims to revise aspects of the international order." Certainly, many factors will determine how this course unfolds," the report said. What is certain is that (the ruling Communist Party) has a strategic end state that it is working towards, which, if achieved and its accompanying military modernisation left unaddressed, will have serious implications for U.S. national interests and the security of the international rules-based order." Much of the report was devoted to analysing China's strategy toward Taiwan, a U.S. ally which China considers a part of its territory to be annexed by force if necessary.

China's military capabilities dwarf those of the island of 23 million in numerical terms, although any invasion of Taiwan would be complex and would carry major political risks, the report said. It also looked at areas where the 2 million-member PLA, the world's largest standing military, has overtaken the U.S., including in the size of its navy, now the world's largest with approximately 350 ships and submarines compared to around 293 for the U.S. China has also built a considerable arsenal of land-based ballistic and cruise missiles and has one of the world's largest forces of advanced long-range surface-to-air systems, the report said. This year's report comes as relations between Beijing and Washington have hit their lowest ebb in decades amid simmering disputes over trade, technology, Taiwan, human rights and the South China Sea. UN atomic watchdog: Hopeful of greater trust with Iran

BERLIN, SEPT 14 /--/ The head of the United Nations' atomic watchdog agency told board members today he is hopeful Iran's decision to let inspectors in to two disputed sites could lead to greater trust with Tehran. Rafael Grossi, director general of the International Atomic Energy Agency, in late August secured an agreement with Iran to inspect the two sites where the country is suspected of having stored or used undeclared nuclear material and possibly having conducted nuclear-related activities. The agreement, which came after Grossi personally visited Tehran to meet with Iranian leaders, ended a months-long impasse over two locations thought to be from the early 2000s. Iran had been permitting IAEA inspectors in to current nuclear sites agreed upon in the landmark 2015 nuclear deal with world powers, but had argued the other two sites dated from before the deal so there was no reason to grant access. The IAEA in March identified the two sites as places where Iran possibly stored and/or used undeclared nuclear material or undertook nuclear-related activities without declaring them to international observers. Grossi told the agency's board of governors in Vienna that inspectors had already visited one site and would visit another later this month. I welcome the agreement between the agency and Iran, which I hope will reinforce cooperation and enhance mutual trust, he said, according to a copy of his prepared remarks. The ultimate goal of the nuclear deal is to prevent Iran from developing a nuclear bomb, which Iran insists it does not want to do. (AP)

Merkel leads EU talks with China looking to ease tensions

German Chancellor Angela Merkel

BRUSSELS, SEPT 14 /--/ German Chancellor Angela Merkel, top European Union officials and Chinese President Xi Jinping held talks today focused on trade, trying to reinvigorate slow-moving discussions on an investment agreement and building trust to tackle the thorny political issues harming their ties. Merkel, whose country currently holds the EU's rotating presidency, was backed by Council President Charles Michel, Commission President Ursula von der Leyen and the bloc's foreign policy chief, Josep Borrell, at the video conference. The talks between two of the world's three largest economies and traders was an opportunity for Brussels and Beijing to take stock of their ties, with the Europeans wanting to focus on economic issues, reform of the World Trade Organization, climate change and the coronavirus pandemic.

The EU sees China as a systemic rival offering great opportunities but also presenting many challenges. The pandemic has also created new obstacles, notably what Brussels sees as a China-orchestrated campaign of disinformation about the disease that could put lives at risk. China has been accused of trying to influence European officials, and Borrell has twice denied this year that the External Action Service a kind of EU foreign office that he leads has bowed to pressure from Beijing to alter documents. While the 27-nation EU China's biggest trading partner is often divided in its approach to Beijing, the security law recently imposed on Hong Kong has galvanised the bloc. EU nations insist the new law is undermining the territory's autonomy, which was guaranteed in the one country, two systems framework. The Europeans were expected to underline their concerns about Hong Kong and tensions in the South China Sea during Monday's talks, and renew their call for holding a human rights dialogue with Chinese officials later this year. Amazon to hire 100,000 to keep up with online shopping surge

NEW YORK, SEPT 14 /--/ Amazon today said it will be hiring another 100,000 people to keep up with a surge of online orders. The company said the new hires will help pack, ship or sort orders, working in part-time and full-time roles. Amazon said the jobs are not related to its typical holiday hiring. Business has been booming at the Seattle-based online behemoth. It made record profit and revenue between April and June, as more people turned to it during the pandemic to buy groceries and supplies. The company already had to hire 175,000 people earlier this year to keep up with the rush of orders, and last week said it had 33,000 corporate and tech jobs it needed to fill. This time around, Amazon said it needs the people at the 100 new warehouses, package sorting centres and other facilities it's opening this month. Alicia Boler Davis, who oversees Amazon's warehouses, said the company is offering 1,000 sign-on bonuses in some cities where it may be harder for it to find workers, such as Detroit, New York, Philadelphia and Louisville, Kentucky. Starting pay at Amazon is 15 an hour. Things are about to get a lot busier at Amazon's warehouses. In addition to the holiday shopping rush, Amazon plans to hold its one of its busiest shopping days, Prime Day, in the fall this year after postponing it from July. Amazon will be monitoring whether it needs to hire more workers for the holidays, but doesn't have anything to announce yet, Boler Davis said. Last year, it hired 200,000 ahead of the holidays. One company is already preparing for the spike in orders: UPS said last week that it plans to bring in 100,000 people to help it deliver packages during the holiday season. (AP)

Pompeo tweet indicates US ambassador to China is leaving

BEIJING, SEPT 14 /--/ The US ambassador to China appears to be leaving his post, based on tweets posted today by Secretary of State Mike Pompeo. Pompeo thanked Ambassador Terry Branstad on Twitter for his more than three years of service. There was no immediate confirmation from the State Department. "Ambassador Branstad has contributed to rebalancing US-China relations so that it is results-oriented, reciprocal, and fair," Pompeo wrote. Branstad was embroiled in a recent controversy when China's official People's Daily newspaper rejected an opinion column that he had submitted. It wasn't clear if his apparent departure was related to the piece. Pompeo tweeted last week that China's ruling Communist Party refused to run Branstad's op-ed while the Chinese ambassador to the United States is free to publish in any US media outlet. Chinese foreign ministry spokesperson Zhao Lijian responded that Branstad's article was full of loopholes, seriously inconsistent with facts and wantonly attacks and smears China". The US Embassy had contacted the People's Daily on August 26 about the piece, asking that it be printed in full without any edits by September 4. (AP)

India-born famed Pakistani Shia scholar passes away

India-born renowned Pakistani Shia scholar Allama Zameer Akhtar Naqvi

KARACHI, SEPT 14 /--/ India-born renowned Pakistani Shia scholar Allama Zameer Akhtar Naqvi has died here following a heart attack. He was 76. Naqvi, who was born in 1944 in Lucknow where he studied until graduation and moved to Karachi in 1967, breathed his last late on Saturday night, Dawn reported on Sunday. Citing doctors at the Aga Khan University Hospital, the paper said he died due to a heart attack. Naqvi, a PhD holder from the University of Karachi, was known to have a deep knowledge of science, philosophy, literature, culture, journalism and Islamic history, the report said. He authored 28 books on various subjects, including Urdu ghazals and the battle of Karbala. He was also the editor of the Al Kalam magazine besides heading the Anees Academy. Sindh Province Governor Imran Ismail expressed his condolences over his death. (PTI)
